

CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION

The award-winning New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education (NJICLE) is the educational arm of the New Jersey State Bar Association (NJSBA). As an approved provider of continuing legal education in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, NJICLE serves as the premier source of professional development resources for the New Jersey bench and bar, presenting over 350 live, webcast, webinar, audio and on-demand seminars each year throughout the state and publishing a wide variety of treatises, practice manuals, lecture handbooks, online materials and other forms of electronic media.

The ingredients contributing most to the success of NJICLE are the time, effort and expertise of the very best legal professionals in New Jersey, both from the bench and bar, representing every field of specialization and every type of practice. The voluntary participation of these highly dedicated lawyers, judges and other professionals as NJICLE lecturers, authors and advisors is greatly appreciated and encouraged. Their commitment to enhancing the profession enables NJICLE/NJSBA to offer one of the most comprehensive, affordable CLE programs in North America.

There are two ways to schedule a CLE program. One is to schedule a CLE meeting through the NJSBA Meetings

Department. CLE meetings are typically two hours or less in duration, are usually done in conjunction with business meetings and are open only to members of the section, committee or division. The NJSBA Meetings Department can help you reserve space for the CLE meeting and send meeting notices to your members. They will also work with NJICLE staff to ensure that the topics are MCLE compliant and that they don't conflict with the NJICLE seminar schedule.

An ideal way to attract new members is to co-sponsor a larger program through NJICLE. These programs are typically longer than two hours in duration and are open to the entire legal community. The NJICLE programming attorneys and staff will assist you in preparing, promoting and presenting the program to attorneys and judges throughout the state through the NJICLE catalogue and other promotional materials. Existing division, section or committee members receive special discounts for any cosponsored programs or publications.

All incoming division, section and committee chairs should contact Lisa W. Spiegel, Esq., Senior Managing Director of Legal Education at 732-214-8554, lspiegel@njsba.com when planning an NJICLE seminar or for more information about continuing legal education.
